BOOK REVIEW

This is a useful text because it brings together the scattered works of Arther, Reid, Horvath and others in a readable format with supporting photographs. It could have been improved if the authors had drawn on their years of practical experience to describe the application of kinesic techniques in various settings, in specific types of investigations, and with illustrations from important cases. There is not a word relating to polygraph examinations, and the obvious application of kinesic techniques. As experienced polygraph examiners, the authors know there are few other settings where the interrogator enjoys such a structured interview in which you can establish norms for truthful behavior while discussing the irrelevant questions, norms for deception and stress while discussing the control questions, and the opportunity to evaluate the nonverbal responses to the discussion of the relevant question against the behaviors exhibited to irrelevant and control questions.

Surely the authors should have been more generous in attributing ideas, concepts, and methods to the original proponents and authors. Even in an informal text such as this one, much more should have been said about the contributions of their colleagues in the polygraph profession to the field of kinesic interrogation. In this respect, the "Partial List of Sources" in the back of the book and brief mention in the introduction is inadequate recognition of the contributions of others.

Despite the book's shortcomings, it is worth reading; and may find a place as a supplemental text in polygraph and interrogation courses.

* * * * * *

INDEX TO VOLUME NINE

Abstracts	54, 183, 197-231, 282
Abstracts, nonverbal deception	197-231
"The American Psychological Association Symposium on Preemployment Screening:	1-33
American Sign Language	148-152
Ansley, Norman	120-123, 153-161, 197-231, 283
"Arson and the Polygraph - 1952 Revisited"	272-281
Ash, Philip	17-26
Atcheson, Marcia	26-29
"Attitudes of Job Applicants and Employees Toward the Polygraph"	162-169
Backster, Cleve	94-108
Barland, Gordon H.	182
Behavior provoking questions	77-81
Behavioral symptoms, abstract	54
Book reviews	120-123, 182, 283
Cardio tracings	117-118
Cardiovascular	101-102, 105-106
Case histories	115-119
"A Case in Which the Polygraph Was the Sole Evidence For Conviction:	42-45

BOOK REVIEW

This is a useful text because it brings together the scattered works of Arther, Reid, Horvath and others in a readable format with supporting photographs. It could have been improved if the authors had drawn on their years of practical experience to describe the application of kinesic techniques in various settings, in specific types of investigations, and with illustrations from important cases. There is not a word relating to polygraph examinations, and the obvious application of kinesic techniques. As experienced polygraph examiners, the authors know there are few other settings where the interrogator enjoys such a structured interview in which you can establish norms for truthful behavior while discussing the irrelevant questions, norms for deception and stress while discussing the control questions, and the opportunity to evaluate the nonverbal responses to the discussion of the relevant question against the behaviors exhibited to irrelevant and control questions.

Surely the authors should have been more generous in attributing ideas, concepts, and methods to the original proponents and authors. Even in an informal text such as this one, much more should have been said about the contributions of their colleagues in the polygraph profession to the field of kinesic interrogation. In this respect, the "Partial List of Sources" in the back of the book and brief mention in the introduction is inadequate recognition of the contributions of others.

Despite the book's shortcomings, it is worth reading; and may find a place as a supplemental text in polygraph and interrogation courses.

* * * * * *

INDEX TO VOLUME NINE

Abstracts	54, 183, 197-231, 282
Abstracts, nonverbal deception	197-231
"The American Psychological Association Symposium on Preemployment Screening:	1-33
American Sign Language	148-152
Ansley, Norman	120-123, 153-161, 197-231, 283
"Arson and the Polygraph - 1952 Revisited"	272-281
Ash, Philip	17-26
Atcheson, Marcia	26-29
"Attitudes of Job Applicants and Employees Toward the Polygraph"	162-169
Backster, Cleve	94-108
Barland, Gordon H.	182
Behavior provoking questions	77-81
Behavioral symptoms, abstract	54
Book reviews	120-123, 182, 283
Cardio tracings	117-118
Cardiovascular	101-102, 105-106
Case histories	115-119
"A Case in Which the Polygraph Was the Sole Evidence For Conviction:	42-45

Index

Cases, arson 272-281
Cases, criminal 42-45, 109-113
Cases, riot and arson 170-181
Cases, sexual molestation 143-147
Chart interpretation 94-108
Chart tracing 74-85
"Comparison of Polygraph Examinations in Criminal Justice and Personnel Selection" 3-16
"Comparison of Psychological Stress Evaluator to Polygraph in Evaluating Truth or Deception in Criminal Cases: A Pilot Study" 109-113
Comparison Question Test 138
Control Question Technique 76
Control Question Technique, Utah Version 97-107
Control Question Tests 5-10
Control Questions 45-49
Countermeasures 149

"The Diagnostic Examiner - The Life and Breath of the Polygraph" 69-73
Dicrotic Pulse 114-119

Electrodermal 100-101, 104, 183
Examinations 3-16
Examiner, diagnostic 69-73

Fact analysis 81-83
Field cases 6-7
Fukumoto, Junichi 42-45

Gates, Edgar D. 30-33
Guilt Complex Questions 154
Guilty information paradigm (GIP) 170-181
Guilty person paradigm (GPP) 170-181

Henry, Donald R. 49-53
History 3-5, 34-41
Horvath, Frank 34-41
"Hypothetical Controls" 45-49

"Illinois Detection of Deception Examiner Act" 74
Interpreters 148-152
Interrogation 74-85
Interrogation theme 83-84
"Introductory Remarks for the Symposium Polygraph Examining for Preemployment Screening" 1-3

Journal reviews 120-123

Kasuya, Takumi 137-142
Kosugi, Tsuneo 137-142
Kubis Report 15

Lee, C.D. 154
Levine, Edward L. 1-3

Licensing, PSE 251-271
Licensing, Vermont 238-250
Licensing, Virginia 251-271
"Lie Test Clears Arson Suspect" 277
Lyle, Herbert P., M.D. 272-275
Lynch, Brian E. 49-53, 143-147

MGQT test structure 98
McKinnon, Murlene 197-231
McLaughlin, Glen H. 278-281
Matte, James Allan 148-152
Miyake, Yoichi 170-181
Mullenix, Philip A. 74-85

Nonverbal deception 197-231
"A Note on the Diagnostic Value of the Dicrotic Pulse" 114-119
Numerical chart analysis 94-108
Numerical evaluation 94-108
"The Numerical Evaluation of Polygraph Charts: Evolution and Comparison of Three Major Systems" 94-108

PSE 49-53, 109-113, 137-142, 251-271
Periodic testing 162-169
Personnel administration 30-33
Personnel screening 3-16
Peters, Robert 109-113
Polygraph, legislation 26-29
"The Polygraph as an Aid in Arson Investigation" 278-281
"Polygraph Examinations For Preemployment Screening: A Personnel Administrator's Viewpoint" 30-33
"A Polygraph Examination of a Sexually Molested Child" 143-147
"The Polygraph in Preemployment Screening: Research on Preemployment Polygraph Use" 17-26
"Polygraph 'Lie Detection' in the Investigation of Arson" 272-275
"Polygraph Tests in Preemployment Screening - Should They Be Controlled By Law?" 26-30
"Polygraphy: Some Comments on the State of the Art" 34-41
"Possibility of Detecting Deception by Voice Analysis" 137-142
Preemployment screening 1-33, 162-169
Pretest interview 74-85, 86-93
"The Pretest Interview and Its Role in the Detection of Deception" 74-85
"Pretest Premise and Procedures" 86-93
Pretest procedures 86-93
Professionalism 34-41
"Psychopathic Pyromania" 276
Psychophysiological detection of deception (PDD) 143
Psychophysiological evaluation 170-181
"Psychophysiological Evaluation of Detection of Deception in a Riot Case Involving Arson and Murder" 170-181
Pulse rate 101-102

R/I research, abstracts 156-160
R/I technique 153-161
Raskin, David C. 3-16
Reid, John E. 69-73, 74-85
Reid Control Question Technique 109-113
Reid Report 32-33
Relevant-Irrelevant technique 153-161
"Report of the Department of Commerce on the Feasibility and Desirability of Licensure of Audio Stress Examiners to the Governor and The General Assembly of Virginia 251-271
Research 17-26, 45-49, 49-53, 109-113, 137-142, 162-169, 170-181, 232-237
"Research on the Validity of the Relevant-Irrelevant Technique as Used in Screening" 153-161
Respiration 99-100, 103-104
Screening 153-161, 162-169
"Selected Abstracts of Nonverbal Deception for Polygraph Examiners" 197-231
Sign language 148-152
Silverberg, Ben A. 114-119, 162-169
Skin-blood flow 232-237
Sphygmomanometry 114
Stress pattern 51
"Studies on Skin-Blood Flow as an Index of Lie Detection" 232-237
Subjects 115-119
Subjects, attitudes 20-21, 162-169
Subjects, children 143-147
Subjects, conditioning 75-81
Subjects, deaf 148-152
Subjects, handicapped 148-152
Surveys 21-22
Suzuki, Akihiro 137-142, 232-237
Takeno, Yutaka 137-142
Technique 148-152
"A Technique for Polygraphing the Deaf" 148-152
Terminology standardization 39
Training 36-39
U-Phase Series 97-107
Validity 17-20,49-50,153-161
"A Validity Study of the PSE" 49-53
"Vermont Licensing Law Upheld in Federal Court" 238-250
Voice analysis 49-53, 137-142
Voice stress, abstract 124
Voice stress analysis 14-15
Watanabe, Shoichi 137-142
Waters, Brent G. 143-147
Weaver, Richard S. 94-108
Winehorst, Richard C. 276
Wygant, James 45-49, 86-93
Yamamura, Takehiko 170-181
Yamaoka, Kazunoba 232-237
ZCT 97-107